1 The Supervisor Role at Open Grace

Purpose, Scope & Authority

The Open Grace Supervisor is the operational link between the Director and the Family Coordinator team. Your role is to ensure that every coordinator is performing at the standard required by Title 17, IRC, and Open Grace policy — and to catch and correct problems before they become compliance issues or consumer harms.

You are not the Director. You carry delegated authority within clearly defined boundaries. Decisions about vendor compliance, consumer authorization, staff termination, and IRC relationships remain with the Director. Within those boundaries, you have real authority — and real accountability.

What the Supervisor Role Is

Caseload oversight	You monitor every coordinator's assigned clients, documentation quality, and hours usage across your team.
Performance management	You identify problems early, provide coaching, and escalate to the Director when corrective action is needed.
Incident first response	You receive escalations from coordinators and determine whether the Director needs to be involved immediately.
Training oversight	You monitor each coordinator's training progress and ensure all required modules are completed on schedule.
Onboarding support	You assist the Director in ramping up new coordinators during their first 30 days.
Warm handoff management	When a coordinator leaves or is reassigned, you manage the transition to protect consumer continuity.

What the Supervisor Role Is Not

Boundary reminder: The supervisor role does not include: hiring or terminating staff (Director only), making commitments to IRC on behalf of Open Grace, approving or modifying IPP service authorizations, handling consumer grievances independently, or overriding Director decisions. When you are unsure whether something falls within your authority — contact the Director before acting.

Scope of Supervision

Direct reports	Caseload	Authority level	Reports to
----------------	----------	-----------------	------------

Up to 8 Family Coordinators	All clients across your team	Operational — not organizational	Director (Joshua Kennedy)
-----------------------------	------------------------------	----------------------------------	---------------------------

2 Managing Your Team of Coordinators

Caseload Oversight, Supervision Meetings & Performance

Supervision is not monitoring — it is active coaching, accountability, and support. Your coordinators need to know you are paying attention to the right things, and that you will help them solve problems before they escalate.

Weekly Supervision Rhythm

Daily (async)	Review contact log submissions from the prior day. Flag any missing entries by 9am. Note any concerning documentation for follow-up.
Weekly 1:1 meetings	30-minute individual check-in with each coordinator. Cover: caseload status, documentation quality, any family concerns, training progress, and personal capacity. Document key points.
Weekly team meeting	15–20 minute team huddle. Share organizational updates, training reminders, compliance notices, and recognize good performance. Keep it structured and brief.
Monthly caseload review	Full review of each coordinator's client list: hours used vs. authorized, QPR deadlines, onboarding checklist status, and any active incidents or concerns.
As needed	Respond to escalations, observe field contacts (with advance notice), review flagged documentation, and conduct corrective conversations.

Running Effective 1:1 Supervision Meetings

Every 1:1 should follow a consistent structure so coordinators know what to expect and you don't miss anything important.

- How are you doing? — Open with a genuine check-in. Burned-out coordinators miss things. This is not small talk — it is a performance indicator.
- Caseload status — Walk through each assigned client. Any concerns? Any families that are hard to reach or disengaged? Any service delivery challenges?
- Documentation review — Have you reviewed their recent contact logs? Raise specific entries — good and bad. Be specific, not general.
- Training progress — Where are they in the Academy? Are any Day 1 modules still incomplete? Set a clear expectation and timeline.
- Upcoming deadlines — QPR due dates, IPP meetings, onboarding milestones — confirm they're on track.
- What do they need from you? — End every meeting with this question. It keeps the relationship supervisory rather than purely evaluative.

Performance Management

When a coordinator is underperforming, address it early and specifically. Vague feedback does not produce change.

Level	Trigger	Supervisor action	Director involvement
Coaching	Missed documentation, late entries, disorganizing folders	Direct coaching in the moment. Give specific feedback and clear expectations.	None required except debrief your conversation
Corrective	Repeated pattern after coaching	Formal corrective conversation. Written notification to Director.	Notify Director to direct.
Escalation	Policy violation, consumer harm risk, safety violation	Immediate notification to Director. Document and direct to Director.	Director handles. supervisor supports

3 Documentation Compliance & Oversight

Contact Log Review, QPR Readiness & Audit Preparation

Documentation is your most important compliance responsibility. If coordinators are not documenting correctly, Open Grace cannot bill, cannot demonstrate compliance, and cannot protect itself in an audit. Your job is to catch documentation problems before IRC does.

Contact Log Review Standards

Review each coordinator's contact log submissions at least weekly. You are not editing their notes — you are flagging entries that would fail an audit.

Same-day submission	Every service contact must be logged the day it occurs. Any entry submitted the next day or later requires a documented explanation. Flag immediately.
UCI numbers present	Every entry must include the consumer's UCI number. Generic entries without UCI are non-compliant.
Goal references	Documentation must connect services to IPP goals by name. 'Worked on goals' is not compliant. 'Practiced grocery shopping (IPP Goal 3: Community Independence)' is compliant.
Duration recorded	Start and end time must be present. 'Two hours' is not sufficient — specific times are required.
Location documented	Home visit, community outing, phone contact, Teams — location must be specified.
Consumer response	Strong documentation includes how the consumer responded. Weak entries describe only what the coordinator did.

QPR Deadline Management

Quarterly Progress Reports are due before the end of the 3rd month of each consumer's service period — submitted no later than 14 days before that month ends. You are responsible for knowing every QPR deadline across your team.

QPR rule: Rule of thumb: If a consumer's QPR is within 30 days, it should be on your radar. Within 14 days, the draft should exist. Within 7 days, it should be submitted or in final review with the Director. A missed QPR deadline is a serious compliance event — notify the Director immediately if one is at risk.

Audit Readiness

IRC may audit Open Grace's records at any time. Your team's documentation must be audit-ready every day — not just before a scheduled review.

- All contact logs submitted same-day and complete for every service contact
- No gaps in service documentation without a documented reason (consumer refusal, illness, etc.)
- Every documented service connected to an authorized IPP goal
- No services documented outside the authorized service period or POS dates
- All SIRs filed on time and properly documented
- Training completion records current for all coordinators
- Onboarding compliance documents on file for every staff member

4 Incident Management & Escalation

SIR Oversight, Escalation Chain & Crisis Response

When an incident occurs involving a consumer, the supervisor is the first point of escalation above the coordinator. You do not investigate, adjudicate, or resolve incidents independently — your role is to receive, assess, and escalate appropriately.

Incident Escalation Flow

Step	Who	Action	Timeline
1	Coordinator	Ensures safety. Calls 911 if needed. Notifies supervisor by phone.	Immediately
2	Supervisor	Receives call. Assesses severity. Notifies Director if SIR-level.	Same day — within 1 hour of receiving
3	Director	Determines SIR requirement. Files initial SIR with IRC if required.	Within 24 hours of incident
4	Coordinator + Supervisor	Writes incident documentation submitted to Director.	Same day as incident
5	Director	Submits follow-up SIR with full details.	Within 7 days

What Qualifies as SIR-Level

- Any injury to a consumer requiring medical attention
- Alleged or suspected abuse or neglect — regardless of source
- Behavioral incidents resulting in property damage, injury, or safety risk
- Elopement or missing person involving a consumer
- Law enforcement contact involving a consumer
- Unexpected hospitalization or medical emergency
- Death of a consumer
- Any consumer rights violation

Rule: When in doubt — it's an SIR. Notify the Director and let them make the determination. The cost of an unnecessary notification is zero. The cost of a missed SIR can be loss of vendor status.

Staff Development & Training Oversight

Training Academy Monitoring, Coaching & Development

Every coordinator at Open Grace must complete the 18-module Staff Training Academy. Your role is to monitor completion, follow up on delays, and reinforce training concepts through regular coaching conversations.

Training Tier Requirements

Tier	Modules	Deadline	Supervisor action if missed
Day 1 Required	Title 17 & CFS, HIPAA, Mandated Reporter, Open Grace Policies	Before first client contact	Coordinator may not see clients. Notify Director immediately.
Week 1-2	Incident Reporting, Cultural Competency, Boundaries & Ethics, Documentation, Emergency Safety	Within 14 days of hire	Set completion date. Document delays.
30-Day Academy	IRC Systems, Elevate, SSI/IHSS, Person-Centered Planning, Life Crisis Intervention, Discharge Rights, Case Management	Within 30 days of hire	Weekly check-in on progress. Notify Director if delays.

Coaching vs. Correcting

Your goal in staff development is to coach first and correct only when coaching hasn't worked. The distinction matters — coaching builds capacity, correcting addresses failure.

Coaching looks like	Reviewing a completed module and discussing how the content applies to a coordinator's actual caseload. 'You just finished the MI module — tell me about a family where you've seen resistance. How would you apply what you learned?'
Correcting looks like	Addressing a specific observed failure. 'Your last three contact log entries don't reference any IPP goals. That's a compliance issue. Here's what needs to change, and I need to see the correction by Friday.'
Both require	Specificity, documentation, and a follow-up. General feedback ('do better') produces nothing. Name the behavior, name the standard, set a timeline.

6 Onboarding New Coordinators

Supervisor's Role in New Hire Setup and Ramp-Up

The Director manages hiring decisions and the formal onboarding checklist. The supervisor plays a critical role in the day-to-day ramp-up — ensuring new coordinators feel supported, understand expectations, and get off to a compliant start.

Supervisor Onboarding Checklist

Before Day 1

- Confirm the new hire's access code is created in staff_access.json
- Confirm they have received their login for the Coordinator Portal
- Confirm Microsoft Teams invitation has been accepted
- Review their assigned client(s) so you can orient them effectively
- Prepare their first 1:1 meeting for Day 2 or 3

Week 1

- Confirm all Day 1 training modules are complete before any client contact
- Walk through the contact log together — do a test submission with them
- Introduce them to their assigned client files — review IPP goals together
- Cover your team's communication norms (Teams, response times, meeting schedule)
- Set expectations clearly: documentation standards, escalation protocol, your availability

Week 2

- Confirm Week 1-2 training modules are on track
- Review their first submitted contact log entries — give specific feedback
- Schedule first observation or co-visit if appropriate
- Check in on how they're feeling about their caseload
- Confirm all Jotform onboarding documents have been submitted

Day 30

- Confirm all 18 training modules are complete with certificates earned
- Conduct a 30-day review conversation — what's working, what needs attention
- Confirm onboarding checklist is fully signed off
- Confirm CPR/First Aid and Live Scan are on file

- Submit 30-day assessment summary to Director

7 Warm Handoff Procedures

Managing Coordinator Transitions Without Consumer Disruption

When a coordinator leaves Open Grace or is reassigned, the consumers they serve must experience no disruption in the quality or continuity of their support. A warm handoff is a structured transition that protects the consumer relationship.

When a Handoff Is Required

- Coordinator resignation or voluntary departure
- Coordinator termination or deactivation
- Leave of absence (extended — more than 2 weeks)
- Caseload rebalancing across the team
- Consumer or family request for a different coordinator

Handoff Process

1	Notify the Director first No handoff begins without Director approval. Bring the situation, the recommended receiving coordinator, and your assessment of timeline.
2	Initiate the handoff in the Director Dashboard The Director activates the handoff flag in the Staff Management panel. The outgoing coordinator's portal displays a handoff banner. The receiving coordinator is identified.
3	Prepare the handoff package For each consumer being transitioned, document: relationship history, family communication style, behavioral considerations, active goals in progress, pending tasks, and any open concerns.
4	Warm introduction Wherever possible, the outgoing coordinator introduces the receiving coordinator to the family — by phone, Teams, or in person. Never a cold handoff.
5	Parallel period If time allows, both coordinators overlap for at least one service contact per consumer before the outgoing coordinator is deactivated.

6

Confirm and close

Director reviews that all consumers are reassigned and all documentation is current. Handoff is marked complete. Outgoing coordinator's access is revoked.

Emergency departure: If a coordinator quits without notice, the supervisor is responsible for immediately notifying the Director and identifying which consumers need interim coverage. Do not wait. Do not attempt to cover the caseload yourself without Director authorization. Consumer continuity is the priority.

8 Hours Tracking & Authorization Compliance

Monitoring Authorized Hours and Alert Thresholds

Every consumer has a specific number of authorized service hours per week defined in their POS. Delivering services beyond authorized hours creates a billing and compliance problem. The supervisor monitors hours usage across the entire team.

Authorized hours	The maximum weekly hours approved in the consumer's current POS. Coordinators may not exceed this without a new authorization from IRC.
Used hours	Hours documented in the contact log for the current service period. Updated by the Director in the Staff Management panel.
Alert threshold	Set at 80% of authorized hours by default. When a consumer reaches this threshold, the supervisor and coordinator receive a visual alert in the portal.
At 80%	Review with the coordinator — are hours being documented correctly? Is the pace of service delivery on track? Does the consumer need more or fewer hours going forward?
At 90%	Contact the Director. Discuss whether a POS extension request to IRC is appropriate before hours run out.
At 100%	Services must stop until a new POS is issued. Do not allow coordinators to continue delivering services beyond authorization.

Common Hours Compliance Mistakes

- Coordinator provides services without a POS in place — all hours are non-billable
- Coordinator delivers services beyond the POS end date — non-billable and a compliance violation
- Coordinator over-documents (inflates time) — creates audit risk and potential fraud exposure
- Coordinator under-documents (fails to log all service hours) — revenue loss and inaccurate consumer records
- Hours are not updated in the staff management system — alerts don't fire, Director can't monitor

9 Communication Standards

Team Communication, Director Reporting & IRC Coordination

Clear, professional communication is a compliance function — not a courtesy. Miscommunication between coordinators, supervisor, and Director creates documentation gaps, missed deadlines, and consumer harm.

Day-to-day team	Microsoft Teams. All work-related communication stays on Teams — not personal text. Response expectation: within 2 business hours during working hours.
Urgent / same-day	Phone or Teams call. Text the Director or coordinator if a Teams call isn't answered within 15 minutes for anything time-sensitive.
Director reporting	Weekly summary to Director: any performance concerns, incidents, hours alerts, training gaps, and general team status. Can be a brief Teams message or short meeting.
Consumer information	Never discussed in personal text, personal email, or any channel outside Microsoft 365. UCI numbers used in group channels — not full names.
IRC contact	All direct IRC communication flows through the Director. If an IRC coordinator contacts a coordinator or supervisor directly about a formal matter, notify the Director before responding.
Documentation of conversations	Any significant supervisory conversation — corrective, performance, incident-related — must be documented in writing and sent to the Director within 24 hours.

What to Bring to the Director (Don't Handle Alone)

- Any consumer complaint about a coordinator or service quality
- Any suspected policy violation by a staff member
- Any situation where you are unsure of the correct action
- Any coordinator who may need to be placed on leave or terminated
- Any contact from IRC, DDS, or law enforcement regarding Open Grace
- Any SIR-level incident, regardless of how it was resolved
- Any coordinator requesting an accommodation or reporting a personal crisis

Supervisor Ethics & Boundaries

Dual Authority, Fairness, Confidentiality & Dual Relationships

Supervisors carry power over the people they manage. That power must be exercised with consistency, fairness, and awareness of how it affects people's livelihoods and wellbeing.

Consistency	Apply the same standards to every coordinator on your team. If you hold one person accountable for late documentation but not another, you create inequity and legal exposure.
Confidentiality	Staff personnel matters — performance issues, corrective conversations, personal disclosures — are strictly confidential. Do not discuss one coordinator's performance with another.
No favoritism	Supervisory relationships should not be driven by personal liking. The coordinator you find most personally enjoyable may not be the best performer. Evaluate behavior and outcomes, not personality.
Dual relationships	You may not have personal financial, romantic, or close social relationships with coordinators you supervise. If a pre-existing relationship exists, disclose it to the Director immediately.
Reporting up	You are not the final authority. If a coordinator raises a concern about your conduct, they have the right to go directly to the Director. That is not insubordination — it is a protected channel.
Mandated reporting	Your mandated reporter obligations do not stop at the boundary of your supervisory role. If a coordinator discloses something during a supervision meeting that triggers a reporting obligation, you must report.

The supervisor role is a position of trust — with coordinators, with consumers, and with the Director. If you ever feel pressured to handle something in a way that feels wrong, contact the Director. Open Grace's integrity depends on every level of the organization operating with the same values.
